This half term we would have been studying the Ancient Greeks.

Ancient Greece was a time which saw the emergence of great philosophers, a passion for the arts and the development of governance. We would have focused our learning on life in Ancient Greece and the impact that their thinking and ideas have had on British life and society. There are numerous collections of Ancient Greek artefacts in museums in the UK (many of these have web sites which can be used with visits not being possible).

Please have fun finding out as much information as you can and presenting it in any way you choose. The questions below will guide you through the types of things we would have explored together.
